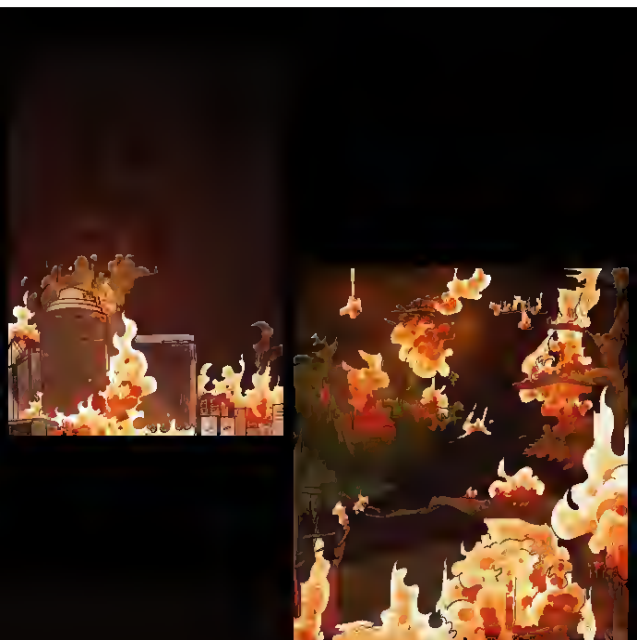
The 6th Great Catastrophe

An unexplainable grand explosion happened in the middle of a city

The explosion created a large amount of dust that soon covered the Earth's atmosphere



And the large fire that occured at the same time started reducing the Earth to ashes

And from the large fires, the carbon exhaust produced endangered Earth s various species.

Along, the carbon exhaust produced great amounts of Acid Rain all the land and oceans became acidic from the unstopping rain

Animals died, Vegetation crippled many species became extint

In that harsh enviroment, only those who possesed great strength were able to survive and by the hands of those who survived, civilization was recreated and by the time the dust that covered the sky finally cleared away and sunlight started shining through again

Text on Poster: Nature

People theorized that the explosion was a result of too much development and labeled is as the greatest catastrophe since the great catastrophe that extincted dinosaurs 65 million years ago
